

While my quadcopter project is under development, the report will not be available. Instead, it provide up-to-date images of the hardware until the project is complete. Once complete, it upload a full report outlining the methodology and procedures taken.

